BIOGRAPHICAL/HISTORICAL NOTE

John Close was a contractor's agent for the United States Army post at Opelousas and a cotton planter of Petit Bois Plantation, Port Barre, Saint Landry Parish, Louisiana. He had relatives in Washington County, Kentucky, and Claiborne County, Mississippi.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Correspondence to John Close as an Army contractor's agent includes letters from New Orleans merchants (1805-1806) concerning orders for supplies and other business at the Army post.

Plantation papers consist primarily of correspondence of cotton factors in New Orleans (1820-1871) which documents cotton produced at Petit Bois Plantation. Factors' letters contain references to the Panic of 1837 and to national and international affairs affecting the cotton market and express a preference for accepting Louisiana State Bank notes over Citizens' Bank notes (1840). Business letters and legal notes document land titles and claims belonging to John Close. Papers document sales of slaves, and a letter discusses a fugitive slave (1806).

Personal correspondence (1805-1845) from Breckenridge County, Kentucky, gives information about outbreaks of yellow fever and Asiatic cholera and about Dominican brothers ministering to the sick. Correspondence from Claiborne County, Mississippi, relates local social and economic conditions. A letter (1828) written by State Representative John Moore describes a fire in the State House, New Orleans, and the resulting loss of lives and property.

Personal papers include genealogical information about the Chauvin family.
